Future growth in a changing world

Technological Innovation and Digital Transformation

Bangladesh's textile industry is on a trajectory of technological innovation, artificial intelligence, and robust IT management. Embracing sustainability, circularity, and digitalization, the industry is marching towards achieving a monumental $100 billion in RMG exports by 2030.

Leader sectors of the textile and garment industry

Cotton-based products remain the hallmark representing 70% of exported garments, with knitted products constituting 55% and woven products 45% of the export basket. Meanwhile, Bangladesh is diversifying into non-cotton-based products, showcasing innovation, and investing in market expansion and backward linkage. Bangladesh's leadership in denim production and export further solidifies its global standing. With established knitting and denim sectors and a steadily improving woven sector, Bangladesh is on the path to becoming a comprehensive one-stop destination for services spanning raw materials to finished products.

Global Attractiveness and Sustainable Practices

Bangladesh's allure to global fast fashion giants is no coincidence. The skilled workforce, competitive pricing for cotton-based clothing, and a relentless commitment to workplace sustainability and labor rights have positioned Bangladesh as the preferred production hub that the major global retailers continue to rely on. With a LEED-certified manufacturing hub housing over 500 factories, Bangladesh is establishing itself as a beacon of sustainable practices and responsible manufacturing.
